3. Confirmation of previous minutes – 19th June, 2014

Motion:

To accept the minutes as a true record of the 2014 Delegates' Council Meeting

Proposed: David Shewring; Seconded: Peter Amadio - Unanimously accepted.

4. Matters arising from previous minutes

a. IFSSH Registration

The ExCo advised that a number of developments have occurred since the last Delegates' Council Meeting. These will be discussed with the President's Report (Item 5).

b. Protocol updates

Two IFSSH documents - IFSSH Pioneer of Hand Surgery guidelines and IFSSH Harold Kleinert Visiting Professorship guidelines - have been updated. These are available on the website (www.ifssh.info). Further work will be done to continue simplifying guidelines, to hopefully encourage more applications from member societies.

An electronic protocol book has been prepared for the ExCo members.

c. Rotation of Congress Hosts (2022)

The Delegates' Council was reminded that the 2022 congress is designated to the European region, as per the letter from the IFSSH Executive distributed in February 2015 and the subsequent March 2015 IFSSH Newsletter. The newsletter lists the member societies assigned to the IFSSH Europe category (<http://ifssh.info/March2015.pdf>).

The guidelines for congress bids are on the IFSSH website - <http://ifssh.info/guidelines.html>. Bids must be received by July 24th 2016 and distributed as specified in the guidelines.

5. President's Report

The following report was submitted by Michael Tonkin:

The work of your Executive Committee since we last met in Paris in June 2014 has been presented in detail under Item 4: Matters arising from previous minutes, or is to be dealt with under subsequent items.

The main concern of the Executive Committee has been to re-establish the IFSSH as an incorporated entity. This has been achieved, within the State of Illinois, USA. We are currently pursuing negotiations with the US Internal Revenue Service to establish the IFSSH as a tax exempt entity. Regrettably, we are aware that the IFSSH may have some outstanding payments to be directed to the US IRS during the years in which the IFSSH was not a tax exempt entity. We are continuing with our investigations and negotiations, utilising an American law firm - Chicago Law Partners. Given our previous status in Puerto Rico and the nature of our activities, we are advised that any tax liability is likely to be small but this is yet to be confirmed. We will keep the Delegates' Council informed as we receive further information.

The administration of our affairs continues to increase in complexity. We have been very fortunate in having Belinda Smith as our Administrative Assistant and we are indebted to her for the work she has done and continues to do. However, it is timely to consider the current and future administrative needs of the IFSSH and, as such, the Executive Committee has recommended that this matter be formally reviewed with a recommendation to be made to the Delegates' Council following that review.

We have distributed significant funds in 2014 and 2015 to worthy educational causes - the Cambodia outreach programme, the South East Asian regional course, and the Eastern European regional course. The formal reports following these courses will be presented under a subsequent item. It may also be appropriate to consider more simple criteria for application and awarding of the Harold Kleinert Visiting Professorship. The Committee for Educational Sponsorship is considering this matter.

Finally, the 2016 Congress in Buenos Aires promises to be an outstanding academic and social event for all of us. This congress coincides with the 50th anniversary of the IFSSH following its foundation in 1966 with eight member societies. We have come a long way with increase in the number of member societies to 55. We look forward to the celebration of our first 50 years in Buenos Aires next October and I would encourage all to attend this meeting, contribute and join in the celebrations.

Michael Tonkin addressed the Delegates' Council to provide an update of IFSSH registration and bylaws process. He explained that, as documented in the 2014 minutes, the Delegates' Council passed a motion to allow the ExCo to proceed with Swiss registration (originally the IFSSH was registered in Puerto Rico) and to subsequently transfer the IFSSH funds to Swiss banking/investment facilities. The ExCo continued to investigate the logistics of this process but in doing so, and in tracing the legal and financial history of the IFSSH through archived documents, it became apparent that the IFSSH has not been compliant with US tax laws.

There were many reasons for this lack of compliance, though largely it related to the misconception that as a not-for-profit organisation, the IFSSH had tax exempt status. Dr Miguel Vargas had filed the original incorporation of the IFSSH in Puerto Rico. After his death in 1993, there was a lapse in paperwork organised through the Puerto Rico office. Subsequently, when the secretarial offices and funds were moved to the USA, there was an incorrect assumption made of the formal legal/tax status. Regrettably, in the past year, it was discovered that many years ago the correct application for tax exemption had not been processed. Therefore, for 20+ years the IFSSH has not been aligned with US taxation law and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) may not look favourably on the transfer of funds to Switzerland until this is rectified.

Upon realising this, the IFSSH Executive Committee took advice concurrently from Swiss international lawyers and US lawyers. Their advice was in agreement: to comply with US law and settle outstanding issues, it would be optimal to register the IFSSH entity in the USA immediately and apply for tax exempt status. Subsequently, when the issues are clarified and resolved, hopefully with minimal liabilities, it would be possible to then register the IFSSH in another location and move the financial accounts, if appropriate.

The Executive Committee believed it was necessary to proceed with registration, based on the advice of these lawyers, and instructed Chicago Law Partners to act on behalf of the IFSSH.

The IFSSH was incorporated in the State of Illinois as a not-for-profit corporation on August 18, 2015.

Michael Boland requested the reasons for choosing Illinois. Michael Tonkin explained that Illinois law is favourable to not-for-profit organisation and applications could be processed quickly (1 week in this case), which then allows for the IFSSH to continue with the tax exempt application to settle the IRS tax issues. The response to the application for tax exempt status may take up to 6-9 months.

Esther Voegelin and Nash Naam enquired about the financial status of the IFSSH. Michael Tonkin advised the Delegates' Council that, at this stage, the ExCo is not intending to move the financial portfolio out of the USA. As the lawyers have recommended, all financial activity (banking and investment accounts) will continue to operate in the USA until IRS liability is determined and any applicable penalties are paid. As the IFSSH is now a registered not-for-profit entity in Illinois, the ExCo/lawyers will apply for tax exempt status. If this is achieved, the IFSSH funds are protected and future taxation is not applicable. However, the liabilities for the period while the IFSSH was not tax exempt are yet to be determined by the IRS. The IFSSH has full financial documents available to supply to the IRS to cover the 6 years applicable under the statute of limitations. An application will be lodged and retrospective tax paid if required.

Roberto Rosales asked the ExCo if the Delegates' Council needs to provide their approval for this registration process. Michael Tonkin explained that because of the findings and legal advice, the ExCo acted immediately but would seek retrospective approval.

David Shewring proposed a motion:

To retrospectively support the ExCo's decision to register in the USA.

Seconded: Nash Naam. Unanimously accepted (none against, none abstained).

Jörg van Schoonhoven summarised his understanding from the Delegates' Council meeting is that the ExCo has been working to ensure the IFSSH has a sound legal standing. At this stage, the recent registration indicates that this is progressing well and provides a basis to continue working on the tax exempt status and financial implications. He passed thanks to the ExCo for this progress.

As indicated in Michael Tonkin's email to Delegates of September 8th, the current bylaws now require amendment to comply with State of Illinois law. The Chicago lawyers have provided their recommendations for amendments last week.

Approved bylaws are needed for inclusion in the application for tax exemption. Under the current bylaws, there are two methods by which these may be amended:

ARTICLE IX – Amendments

These Bylaws may be amended by two-thirds vote of the members of the Council present. Such amendment shall be submitted at least 60 days in advance of the next scheduled Council meeting. These Bylaws may also be amended at a regular or special meeting of the Council by unanimous consent.

As the incorporation was only recognised on August 18th and the subsequent bylaw amendments forwarded last week, 60 days' notice is not possible. However, if unanimous consent is gained at today's regular meeting (of present delegates only, not including guests or additional representatives), this complies with the current bylaws. The ExCo accept that this may not occur, in which case further alterations as requested by the Delegates' Council would be prepared and a special meeting (electronic) called with 60 days' notice. No tax exemption application would be submitted until the bylaws are approved and relevant to Illinois law.

Michael Tonkin described each change in the bylaws to the Delegates' Council - see Appendix 1. He reminded delegates that there were no changes to the substance or intent of the bylaws, simply alterations to allow the bylaws to comply with State of Illinois law. He also explained that under this law, the ExCo are designated as Directors, and the Delegates are Officers. The ExCo has discussed all recommended changes with the lawyers and provided their agreement, pending that of the Delegates' Council. Michael Tonkin appealed to the Delegates' Council to consider the proposed changes as approving these in a timely manner would allow for continuation with the application for tax exemption and clarification of IFSSH IRS liabilities.

Motion: To approve the alterations to the IFSSH bylaws

Proposed: Nash Naam, Seconded: Eduardo Zancolli. Unanimously accepted (none against, none abstained).

Michael Tonkin thanked the delegates on the ExCo's behalf.

Michael Tonkin announced to the Delegates' Council that the 2016 IFSSH triennial congress in Buenos Aires coincides with the 50th anniversary of the IFSSH. The Federation has grown substantially from 8 member societies in 1966 and this will be celebrated in Buenos Aires.

6. Secretary-General's Report

Marc Garcia-Elias reported that the IFSSH has 55 member societies from 54 countries. Communication with these societies is generally good, though long term problems exist with Lithuania, Puerto Rico, Slovakia, Thailand and Uruguay. He appealed to the Delegates' Council for assistance in contacting individuals within these societies to re-establish contact.

Mexico has representatives present today and we hope to re-establish communication with this society.

Discussions continue to encourage applications from Guatemala, Pakistan and Peru, following enquiries from their members. Discussions also continue with Chinese representatives, however this is a challenging scenario as their hand surgeons operate as a branch of the Chinese Medical Association and it is difficult to get information from this large organisation. Alternative options are being investigated.

An application for IFSSH membership has been received from the Kuwait Society for Surgery of the Hand. This application fulfils the criteria for membership as stated in the IFSSH bylaws and the Executive Committee are pleased to present this to the Delegates' Council for their approval.

Motion: To accept the Kuwait Society for Surgery of the Hand as a member society of the IFSSH

Proposed: David Shewring, Seconded: Roberto Rosales. Unanimously accepted.

Marc Garcia-Elias announced that the Kuwait Society becomes the 56th member of the Federation and he will communicate with their President, Dr Husam Basheer, to welcome the society to IFSSH membership.

As discussed in Item 4c: Business Arising from Previous Minutes: Rotation of Congress Host, Marc Garcia-Elias reminded Delegates that the 2022 congress has been allocated to Europe and the subsequent 2025 congress will be opened to bids from The Americas. Those societies interested in bidding for the 2022 congress should follow the instructions on the website/newsletter, as noted in Item 4c.

Marc Garcia-Elias reported that Hand and Wrist Biomechanics International, an allied organisation of the IFSSH, have been active and held their 9th symposium in Milan, June 15-17, in conjunction with the FESSH meeting. 105 participants were present and provided good feedback. HWBI are approaching the organisers of the 2016 Buenos Aires IFSSH congress with a request to host a session in the scientific programme.

There has been no progress on gaining the electronic rights to Hand Surgery Worldwide, the text produced by Dr Urbaniak. The Greek publisher is reluctant to release the rights and the IFSSH has requested assistance from Greek colleagues to continue the negotiations.

7. Treasurer's Report

The summary of IFSSH funds (2006-July 31st 2015) was distributed to Delegates prior to the meeting - attached below.

Marc Garcia-Elias explained that since the Treasurer's report at the 2014 IFSSH Delegates' Council Meeting, the total balance of funds has decreased by US$57,000. The main reasons for this decrease are:

- A $90,000 seed fund has been provided to the organisers of the 2016 triennial congress. This is repayable two weeks prior to the congress.
- The 2015 invoices for member society dues were delayed until July this year (rather than March) while the registration status of the IFSSH was clarified. Therefore, income from dues is minimal so far this year but should return to normal levels in the coming months.

The investment account, managed by Fidelity Investments, has grown in wealth by 9.7% over the past 15 months.

Expenditure is within the normal, reasonable limits.

8. Historian's Report

Frank Burke advised the Delegates' Council that archival material has been collected over the past 4-5 years and a retrospective archive is now considered close to complete. Throughout this process, information has come to light that has helped the ExCo trace the history of the IFSSH and, in recent months, assist with the registration process.

The retrospective collection contains minutes of meetings (ExCo and Delegates' Council), financial documents, information on triennial congresses and Pioneers, and interesting correspondence. These documents have all been scanned to digital files, and very little kept in hard copy. The documents are all filed within an electronic system and currently available to the ExCo via the Dropbox programme.

He appealed for minutes of meetings that are missing from the archives: 1967-1970, 1972-1980, 1982, 1984-1986, 1997-2000.

The ExCo have now been asked to consider which documentation from their terms should be included within the archives under a prospective system.

9. Committee for Educational Sponsorship Report

Dan Nagle, Chair, presented the CES report on behalf of his committee members (Eduardo Zancolli, 2016 Congress Chair; and Moroe Beppu, IFSSH Member-at-Large).

The following programmes have been conducted with the assistance of IFSSH grants since the 2014 CES report:

- The Cambodia outreach programme (Dr Graham Gumley, Australia), conducted 7-16 August 2014 - $19,350
- The South Asian regional course (Dr Raja Sabapathy), conducted 3-5 July 2015 in Coimbatore, India - $20,000
- The Eastern European Regional Course in Hand Surgery: Hand Reconstruction in Trauma and Rheumatoid Arthritis (Drs Daniel Herren, Kevin Chung and Zsolt Szabo), conducted 4-6 September 2015 in Hajdúszoboszló, Hungary - $15,000

Dan Nagle reported that these three events were all successful and provided worthy educational teaching to their participants.

The Cambodian mission, organised by the Australian Hand Surgery Society, is an ongoing programme to teach local surgeons and perform more complex surgeries. A comprehensive report was provided to the IFSSH Executive.

The South Asian Regional Course attracted 293 delegates from 18 countries and consisted of a scientific programme of lectures and live surgeries. A report has been published in the August 2015 issue of the IFSSH Ezine.

Zsolt Szabo delivered a preliminary report of the Eastern European course. 90 participants attended from 14 countries. As a result of the funding from FESSH, IFSSH and industry, 40 of these participants received the course, hotel, meals, etc, for free. Eastern European societies were asked to nominate candidates for these positions and the organisers hope this will encourage increased participation in IFSSH/FESSH. Zsolt Szabo also presented the results of an exit questionnaire showing the satisfaction of participants and encouragement for a future course (wrist instability being the most requested topic).

Dan Nagle reported that CES responsibilities at present involve the assessment of an application from the IFSHT for a number of grants. He noted that the IFSSH also provide US$20,000 to support disadvantaged surgeons attend the upcoming triennial congress. The application process and assessments of these are the responsibility of the local congress organising committee.

Funding is available for the Harold Kleinert Professorship but no applications have been received so far. The CES is in the process of simplifying the application criteria.

Dan Nagle asked the Delegates' Council to consider the submission of applications. The details are available on the IFSSH website: <http://ifssh.info/fellowship-grants.html>.

10. 13th IFSSH Congress – Buenos Aires, 2016

Eduardo Zancolli delivered a summary of progress. The local organising committee of the 2016 Buenos Aires congress has been planning this meeting since the successful bid at the Seoul 2010 congress and looks forward to welcoming participants to South America

The congress website is in the process of being updated, but is still online for use - <http://www.ifssh-ifsht2016.com/>

Registration will open on November 1st. Early registration closes 31st March 2016. A cap has been placed on registration numbers because of available space at the Hilton Convention Centre.

The preliminary programme is organised which includes 16 round table sessions, 26 symposia, 5 update courses and 4 debates. Free papers can be submitted from October 1st (instructions on website) and will be selected through a blinded online abstract system. James Strickland has been invited to deliver the Swanson Lecture. 52 speakers have currently confirmed their participation.

The social programme includes an Opening Ceremony and banquet at the Faena Arts Centre (Monday), the President's dinner at Alvear Palace Hotel, visits to special exhibits at museums, etc. and closing ceremony, along with a number of tourism options. These are listed on the website, along with a range of accommodation options. The accommodation and tourism components will be managed by Furlong-Fox, the largest tourism group in Argentina.

The congress organisers hope to encourage more trade exhibitors to participate.

The IFSSH provide up to $20,000 to the local organisers to distribute in the form of congress assistance grants for registration (see CES report).

The IFSSH ExCo reminded Delegates that this congress coincides with the 50th anniversary of the IFSSH and celebrations will be planned.

- Call for Pioneer of Hand Surgery nominations

Marc Garcia-Elias noted that nominations have already been forthcoming for the 2016 Pioneer of Hand Surgery awards. He advised that these submissions are not required yet - those received to date will be filed until the official process is underway, as follows:

The call for Pioneer of Hand Surgery nominations will be sent to the delegate of each IFSSH society in January 2016.

The nomination must come from a member society, not an individual, and should be reserved for those with outstanding achievements. Marc Garcia-Elias reminded delegates that the honour is for those with international importance, as recognised by the national society, and fulfilling the examples listed in the guidelines. Details of the criteria and nomination process are available on the IFSSH website: <http://ifssh.info/pioneers.html>.

The deadline for submitting nominations for the Buenos Aires congress is April 24th, 2016. As per the website details, nominations should be forwarded to the Secretary-General (secretary@ifssh.info).

Zsolt Szabo advised the Delegates' Council that FESSH have registered their organisation in Switzerland in 2014 and restructured their council (www.fessh.com). FESSH have partnered with the European Union of Medical Specialities and the European Board of Hand Surgery to further their activities. The 2015 Diploma in Hand Surgery had 100+ enrolments and is receiving international participants.

The next FESSH congress will be held in Santander, June 22-25 2016, with Paco Pinal as Chair. The 2017 congress will be held in Budapest, June 21-24.

14. South American Federation Report

Eduardo Zancolli reported that the South American Federation is pleased to have recently included Ecuador, Paraguay and Peru in their membership. The Federation's congress in Chile was successful with 400+ participants.

Discussion continues over an alteration to a Latin American Federation in the future.

15. IPRAS Report

Paco Pinal submitted the following report, presented by Marc Garcia-Elias:

The IPRAS society is now back from the ashes after a major litigation issue between the council and the Representatives/partners. As far as I understand, they reached an agreement to share the profits of the congresses and in compensation the Representatives will make the advertisement, promotion and organization of the IPRAS congresses ...and it did not work well from the very first congress in Chile with everybody unhappy, ending in court. In summary there has been a complete shut off for 2 years and now it seems there are back into action.

I recently have been given a new email address to where we could upload our congresses and dates, but still is not working one-hundred percent.

16. IFSSH Scientific Committees

Michael Tonkin reported that during Ulrich Mennen's Presidency the format of the Scientific Committee programme was updated. This has been an improvement on previous years in which reports were scarce and few people attended the committee sessions.

The current format involves the President and President Elect inviting a recognised hand surgeon to chair a committee. This Chair then chooses their committee (2-3 others as minimum) and this group choose the specific topic of their report from the general topic provided - which should be based on current thoughts of the hand surgery community or historical fact, not individual belief. Submitted reports are printed in the ezine and placed on the IFSSH website. A list of reports for this triennium will be placed in the 2016 congress booklet. After report submission, the committee disbands and a new chair is appointed for a future report - unless the current chair +/-committee request or are agreeable to writing a further report.

Two or three scientific committee reports have been published in each ezine issue since 2013. 13 further invitations for reports have been issued and it is hoped that these committees fulfil their commitments. It is now an appropriate time to invite new people to chair future committees and thought should be given as to relevant people to act as Chairpersons.

17. IFSSH Website / Newsletter / Ezine

The majority of communication from the IFSSH to its member societies continues to be through the regular newsletters, quarterly ezines and website.

The newsletters are published in the JHS(American) and JHS (Asian-Pacific).

Prof Mennen remains as Editor of the ezine and produces this high quality publication four times per year. Subscription (free of charge) is via the IFSSH website. The publisher will change for the next issue to a contact in South Africa. Hosting of the pdfs will occur on the IFSSH website and the secretariat will distribute to the subscriber database administered by the IFSSH.

The webmaster, Santhosh Kumar, will undertake an upgrade of the IFSSH website in the near future. Whilst this will incur expense, it is a valuable tool and important to have current technology to assist the webmaster with his tasks.

18. Business Arising from Executive Committee Meeting

a. Kuwait Society membership

Refer to Secretary-General's report (Item 6)

b. Administration review

Michael Tonkin explained that since 2007 the secretariat has been in Australia, organised by Belinda Smith. The administrative requirements of the IFSSH have grown and the time required to meet the demands has increased. It is now appropriate to perform a formal assessment of the current administrative tasks and future needs.

The IFSSH ExCo requested the imprimatur of the Delegates' Council to perform this assessment (e.g. hours per week, responsibilities, priorities) and will compile a report for the Council.

19. New business

No further items were raised.

20. Next meeting of the Delegates' Council

2016 – IFSSH Triennial Congress: Oct 24-28, Buenos Aires, Argentina

B. Membership is not open to individuals, but is restricted solely to bona fide societies or clubs for surgery of the hand. Regional societies may be represented by a central society, but no individual country shall be represented by more than one single society except, when (1) a second society meets the requirements for membership listed in Article IV, Section C, (2) the society is sponsored by three Council delegates, one of whom is the delegate of the existing society of the same country, and (3) the application receives unanimous approval of Council. Other than the above exception, societies may apply for membership in the Federation by petitioning the Secretary-General, who will then bring the petition to the attention of the Executive Committee and Council of the Federation. The Council of the Federation will then elect, reject or table such application by majority vote of members present. Surgeons of less populous countries can form a regional society to be admitted to the Federation if it can include a society which meets the requirements for membership listed in Article IV, Section C.

When a national society within a regional society fulfills the requirements for individual membership, it can apply (and can be admitted by the procedures described above), but the society is requested to remain in the regional society to maintain support for the less populous countries so as to provide for their continued representation in the Federation.

Each organization shall have the right to substitute an alternate for its delegate, but each constituent society shall have only one vote in the Council. Members of the Executive Committee who are not delegates have a vote. Members of the Executive Committee who are also an elected society delegate have two votes. A former member of the Executive Committee may serve on Council, but only if he/she is serving as their society's Council Delegate.

The Council has the inalienable right:

- To amend the bylaws from time to time as described in Article IX;
- To appoint the President;
- To appoint the members of the Executive Committee as designated in Article XI;

An international scientific congress is to be held every three years with one of the constituent societies as the host to carry out the objectives of the Federation. The future host society must be in good standing and shall be elected by a closed vote of Council members at the Council meeting six years in advance. All member societies and guests will be invited to participate in the Congress.
